Archdeacon's Visitation.—We understand the Archdeacon's visitation for the swearing in of churchwardens, will be held at Nottingham, on the 2d of June; at Southwell, on the 3d; at Retford, on the 9th; and at Newark, on the 10th. We are glad to learn, that in conformity with the practice in the Archdeaconry of Lincoln, the Archdeacon of Nottingham will dispense with the sermons usually preached on these occasions.

TRINITY CHAPEL.—Two sermons were preached on Sunday last, towards liquidating the debt on the chapel, by the Rev. S. Carwardine, of Reading. The sum of £37 was collected in the morning, and £11 in the evening; making a total of £48.

KING-STREET CHAPEL.—Three sermons were preached on one of the most ancient of this place of worship, on Sunday last; in the morning and evening, by the Rev. J. Gilbert, of Leicester; and in the afternoon, by the Rev. J. Bendey. The sum of £9 was collected.

On Sunday morning last, the Rev. Benjamin Carpenter delivered a discourse in the High-pavement chapel, being soon the lamented decease of the late Henry Enfield, Esq. The building was completely filled by a most attentive audience, and the whole of the funeral train attended in their usual seats and husbands. The address of Mr. Carpenter excited feelings of the deepest sensibility for the deceased, also united to the former hope that he had realized by the change to another world—leading to the aching hearts of his relatives, and admonishing to those who were left, how to complete life's short pilgrimage.

WESLEYAN CHAPEL, OLD LENTON.—The interests of the Sabbath school connected with this place of worship were attended with his usual ability, by the Rev. John Ton, on Sunday last. Numerous congregations attended the order of his services and the popular feeling which prevails in favor of these inestimable institutions. The donations amounted to upwards of £8, and the address to the teachers and friends as well as the appeal to the institution by the children gave very great satisfaction.

HOUSE GIFTS.—The very graph in the Review of the 18th ult. respecting the supply effort made by the congregation of the church at Hyson Green, to liquidate a debt of nearly £25, by means of five shilling shares, was written originally for the Journal, and we learn that the article has met with much success. We are glad to find the publicity to have a result.—We understand that a Juvenile Concert will be given at the Exchange Rooms, at an early day, in aid of the funds of Fair-street Chapel, now undergoing the debt contracted in enlarging St. Paul's church. Hyson Green, and in making other arrangements indispensable necessary for the comfort of the worshippers. What next?

WESLEYAN CHAPEL, TAVERN.—Two very impressive sermons were preached in the above chapel, on Wednesday, the 23d ult. by the Rev. Dr. Newton, of Manchester, when the sum of seven pounds was collected; and on Sunday, the 27th ult. two more sermons were delivered in the same chapel, by Mr. Walker, of Derby, when the sum of two pounds was collected. The weather being favorable on Sunday, the congregations were small, but we trust that lasting good was done on both occasions.

MANSFIELD SUNDAY SCHOOL.—A meeting in connection with the Newark Sunday School Union, was held on Thursday, the 24th of April, at the Independent chapel, Newgate, for promoting the general object of the grant to Mansfield. The Rev. H. L. Adams was called to the chair. Mr. R. Middleton moved the first resolution, which was confirmed by all state endowments for religious purposes. It was seconded by the Rev. H. Antcliffe, who spoke at considerable length on the evils arising from absent neighborhoods.—Mr. Cooper moved, and the Rev. C. Kirtland seconded, the next resolution, which was to the effect that the various arguments advanced in support of this grant are unworthy of notice, and merely show to what subterfuges men will fly when they forsake the high ground of principle for expediency.—The third resolution, urging upon teachers and Sunday schools and Christians of every name, the duty of using every lawful means to prevent the passing of the bill, was moved by the Rev. J. Beaumont, and seconded by Mr. B. Hadden.—Moved by Mr. Morley, and seconded by Mr. Woodhouse, that the Rev. C. Kirtland be requested to attend the conference to be held in London, on the 30th of April, as the representative of the Newark Sunday School Union.—A petition to the House of Commons, in opposition to the bill, was numerously signed.

INQUESTS BEFORE C. SWANN, ESQ., CORONER.

ENDEMIC CHOLERA.—On Tuesday last, at the house of Mr. Joshua Bostock, the cricket Potters, Kimberley, in the parish of Greasley, to ascertain the cause of the death of Sarah Chambers, aged 56 years. On Sunday evening the deceased appeared to be well, and went to bed about ten o'clock. At four the next morning she got up, and calling all the family, said, "I'm sure they are vomiting except me; I'm ill myself." She then went well, she went to bed again, and became violently purged, and vomited. She continued in this state, declining to take anything except water, or nothing any medicine and, for three hours, when she died of an attack of the English cholera. Verdict—"Natural death, by the sudden visitation of God, and not from the effects of any poison, injury, or violence whatever."

CONVICTION.—The usual quietude of this village has lately been disturbed, by the somewhat arbitrary stoppage of Sunday trains at the Bulwell and Basford, which at epsage was nevertheless confirmed by order of the court of quarter sessions. An unanimous feeling is manifested that no good has been done, that in consequence of the recent meeting held at Woodborough, pre-vious to the sessions, such meeting being composed of about half a dozen persons, who in his opinion, could not be called "unanswerable," though it lies in a straight direction to Nottingham, for the accommodation of Calverton, Oxton, Epperstone, Edwinstowe, Ollerton, and Southwell. Meetings are being held this week on the subject.

OLLERTON PUDDLING.—On Tuesday evening last, an infant was found at the Rose Cottage, in the occupation of Mr. Joseph Bostock, the cricket Potters, Kimberley, in the parish of Greasley, to ascertain the cause of the death of Sarah Chambers, aged 56 years. On Sunday evening the deceased appeared to be well, and went to bed about ten o'clock. At four the next morning she got up, and calling all the family, said, "I'm sure they are vomiting except me; I'm ill myself." She then went well, she went to bed again, and became violently purged, and vomited. She continued in this state, declining to take anything except water, or nothing any medicine and, for three hours, when she died of an attack of the English cholera. Verdict—"Natural death, by the sudden visitation of God, and not from the effects of any poison, injury, or violence whatever."

NOTTINGHAM SCHOOL OF DESIGN.

The subscribers to the School of Design held their second annual meeting yesterday (Thursday) week, in the Exchange. Thomas Wakefield, Esq., occupied the chair, supported by a large body of influential gentlemen. The only business done was the reception of the annual report, which, containing the list of officers who resigned and every particular connected with the institution, we append at length:—

The committee have great satisfaction in meeting the meeting as well as from the result of their own judgment and observation, as from an inspection of the designs and drawings exhibited on the present occasion, that the objects which the institution was established in view, have been fully attained.—that the improvement of those who have availed themselves of its privileges, and the consequent advantages to themselves, have been clearly developed,—and that the liberality of the subscribers has been manifested by from the inhabitants more particularly the manufacturers in this district. They have only to express their regret, that owing to a few additional designs, which it is hoped will be easily remedied, and the circumstances annexed upon all infant undertakings, its benefits have not been made more extensively available.

The principal disadvantages alluded to are, in the opinion of the committee, the want of a more eligible situation, both as respects publicity, and the convenience of the institution, and the existence of a large debt incurred for a much smaller purpose.

With regard to the first inconvenience, it has been proposed to erect a suitable building subject, in its internal arrangements to the approval and in accordance with the suggestion from the central school at Somerset House, on a piece of land belonging to the Garner Hole Estate, situate at the north-east corner of Broad-street, and the Green, on the condition to sell to the institution at a reduced price; also land immediately adjoining the said piece of land, as a garden. This locality, it is considered, will be sufficiently central and respicuous, and possess all the requisites for a public building, &c. It is proposed to erect a suitable building adapted in style and appearance to its purposes, and not to encumber the institution with too high a rent, but upon a wise sufficiently liberal to ensure a decidedly ornamental building to the town. The amount required for the performance to be raised in shares. A number of designs and plans have been received from different architects, many of them of the highest merit, but at present, and until a plan of the interior arrangements have been approved by the central school, none has been decided upon.

In addition to the drawing class at the Mechanics' Institution, the committee feel assured that the existence of two establishments in this useful branch of popular education in close vicinity, and instead of being productive of any good practical results will only have a tendency to weaken each other. It is important that in the interests of the town and neighbourhood to secure the advantages offered by Government, which can only be obtained by the successful progress of the school. Under these circumstances the committee confidently rely that an amalgamation will take place as soon as the necessary arrangements can be effected.

For the purpose of exciting a proper spirit of emulation, and to reward merit, the committee have decided to offer a number of prizes to the students for the best designs and drawings in various branches of the art; and they have the gratification of announcing that the following are the successful specimens produced at which are now exhibited. They are awarded by the different appointed by the committee, that they have much difficulty in determining upon their degrees of excellence, and that they have highly applaud the industry, diligence and talents of the students evinced on the occasion. The prizes are awarded as follows:—

1. For the best designed a stand, salt, sugar, or cellar—J. E. Smith and S. Turton £2 2 0
2. For the six best designs for lace—G. Mosley 3 3 0
3. For the best sketched drawing from photo—George Marvin 1 11 6
4. For the best sketched drawing from copy—W. Dove 1 11 6
5. For the best drawing from the plaster—A. Doleyns 1 1 0
6. For the best outline drawing from copy—J. Jones 1 1 0
7. For regularity of attendance and general conduct—E. B. Hoskins 1 1 0

£14 19 6

No student was allowed to compete for the first and second prize who had not been on the books of the Institution for four full months; nor for any of the other prizes, unless he had been on the books two months in constant attendance, previous to the day of exhibition.

In conclusion, it only remains for the committee to express their satisfaction with the exertions of the master and the progress of the students, whose regular attendance has received much praise, and they feel the more justified in this assurance from the opinion of Mr. Dyce, the Inspector of the Branch Schools of Design, who, upon his recent visit, declared the entire approval, and his gratification that so much progress had been made.

The committee earnestly hope that an institution so fraught with benefits to our local trade, manufactures, and working classes—so interesting in the point of the arts, and so valuable to those who interest themselves in the social and moral improvement of society, will receive the most hearty and cordial support.

Examined,
April 23d, 1845. THOS. WAKEFIELD.

On Tuesday evening, a young girl, named Letitia Allsworth, residing in Ann's-street, aged 12 years, a lace-runner by trade, attempted to commit suicide by poisoning herself with laudanum. Fortunately, medical assistance was called in time from the Dispensary, and she is now recovering.

RIOTOUS USAGE.—At the meeting of the board on Monday last, several children were present at the summer months the meetings shall be held fortnightly. The next meeting will therefore be on Tuesday, the 6th day of May, 1845, when the attendance of the members is requested.

By order of the board,
THOS. WAKEFIELD, Secretary.

THE COLLEGE OF MAYNOOTH.

At the present moment, a brief review of the past history of this college may not be uninteresting. It is situated in the county of Kildare, which also contains another of the principal Roman Catholic educational establishments in Ireland, namely, that of Clongowes-wood. The royal college of St. Patrick, Maynooth, was founded pursuant to an act passed by the Irish parliament in 1795. The object of the institution is professed to be to provide "a home education" for the Irish priesthood of the Roman Catholic Church, who were formerly obliged to resort to the various colleges on the continent. It was first opened for the reception of fifty students, in October, 1795, and consequently in the autumn of the present year will complete its first half century.

A long college was attached soon after the commencement of the establishment, but that addition to the original plan was discontinued in 1817. The buildings of this college, in its present state, are fitted for the accommodation of 850 students. Of this number, 250 are free students, who are selected by the bishops of the several dioceses, and nearly proportional to their numbers. They pay eight guineas upon their entrance into the college, and that is their only expense. The rest of the students in the establishment are either "pensioners" who pay twenty-one guineas per annum and four guineas entrance, or "half pensioners," who pay only half that amount in a year. The expenses of the college are supported by various sources of revenue and by private bequests, in addition to the present Parliamentary vote of £26,928 granted each year. The college is governed by a president, vice-president, dean, and procurator or curate; and the education of the students is under the superintendence of professors of the sacred scriptures, of dogmatic theology, moral theology, natural and experimental philosophy, logic, belles lettres, Hebrew, Greek, and Latin, English elocution, and of the Irish and French languages. The students rise at half-past five o'clock, and retire to rest at half-past nine in the evening. eight hours being thus allowed for repose. The students usually remain at the college for their period of study for five years. Two of these are devoted to humanity, logic, and mathematics, and three to theology: the course, however, is sometimes shortened by the omission of mathematics from the list of studies. The college buildings consist of a plain centre, with extensive returning wings; the cost of its erection was £80,000, before some late additions had been even commenced. There are fifty-four acres of land attached, which are laid out as a park for the recreation of the students.

APPREHENSION OF BURGLARS.—We stated, in our last that a burglary had been committed on the premises of Mr. Broadbank, of Princes-street, New Radford, by taking up the cellar-grate, and a number of box rags stolen. Since then we are glad to state, that some clue has been obtained to punish the thieves. The robbery took place on Tuesday week, and on Wednesday last, Sergeant Dawes, and Whitehead, two of the county police, apprehended two youths (one of whom is very well known, and is named William Crooksey), on Sneinton-road, in a suspicious manner. After in addition to the rags, there was a shooting coat with a pair of spectacles in the pocket taken away, and on searching the house of Crooksey's parents, a pair of boots were found. The young rascals were taken before the county magistrates on Saturday last, and remanded for further examination till next Monday.

DISCOVERY OF BURGLARS.—The neighbourhood of Bingham, Hose, and Melton Mowbray, have latterly had robberies of an extensive character committed in them, which has called forth by vigilant and preserving exertions that a discovery has been made which has led to the apprehension of several individuals. The latest robbery of any real at the Diamond street, still meet with prompt attention.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE.

The only political intelligence in the Paris papers is the official announcement in the Moniteur of M. Guizot's temporary retirement from office, from indisposition. The following is the royal ordonnance to that effect just published:—"Considering that M. Guizot, our minister secretary of state of Foreign affairs requires, for his health, some repose, we have ordered, and do order the following:—Count Duchatel, minister secretary of state for the Interior, is entrusted, ad interim, with the department of Foreign affairs. Given at the palace of the Tuileries on the 28th day of April, 1845. LOUIS PHILIPPE."

The accounts from Switzerland are still unsatisfactory. The "Presse" says that the situation of affairs in the Canton of Berne was becoming more menacing. A popular assembly hostile to the Government was to have taken place on the 27th, and great apprehensions of a conflict, following similar to one lately accomplished in the Canton of Vaud. The inhabitants were about to form themselves into a national guard for the protection of their arms and property. A letter from Schwytz, of April 23, says:—"Every one here is in the greatest anxiety, as it is generally believed that another expedition of the Corps Francs will take place. Public prayers are put up every night in all the churches."

It is confidently rumoured that, in addition to Lord Lonsdale, the Earl of Liverpool and the Marquis of Exeter have determined to resign their situations, and vote against the Maynooth Bill in the House of Lords. The Earl of Lonsdale is Postmaster-General; the Earl of Liverpool Lord Steward of the household, and the Marquis of Exeter holds the chief office in Prince Albert's household.—Globe.

Anti-Maynooth Conference.—On Tuesday last, a meeting of deputies appointed by all state associations, appointed to attend the Anti-Maynooth Conference, convened by the central committee, and now holding at the Crown and Anchor, took place at the Guildhall Coffee-house, to consider the position in which they were placed. Mr. W. Felkin, of Nottingham, occupied the chair, and the principal speakers were Messrs. Beaumont, Colonel Perronet Bagwood, Robertson of Edinburgh, Cullen of Leith, Murrell of Leicester, Scales, Stovel, and other ministers of various denominations. Dr. Price, Mr. Joseph Corder, Mr. C. Childs, Mr. E. Baines of Leeds, Mr. Hore, Mr. E. Miall, Mr. Nicholson of Plymouth, and other gentlemen. The object of the meeting was principally, we believe, to see how far they could co-operate with the "no popery" men. We have not learnt the precise result.

THE LABOURING CLASSES.—The following are the proposed resolutions respecting the labouring classes of England and Wales, to be moved by Mr. Ewart, M.P., on Monday next:—1. That the present state of political tranquillity, and the recent revival of trade, afford to this house a favorable opportunity to examine with a view to efficiency of labour, to restrict the free interchange of commodities, and to impose on the people unnecessary taxation. 3. That the present condition of the labouring classes of England and Wales, has been aggravated by recent legislation, and is calculated to the cruelty and oppression of special advantage which it fails to secure. 4. That this house will take the said laws into consideration, with a view to their early repeal, and to such arrangements as may be most beneficial to all classes of her Majesty's subjects.—5. That the freedom of industry and property secured by the general revision of the law of parochial settlement which now prevails in England and Wales.—6. That a systematic plan of colonisation would greatly relieve those districts of the country where the deficiency of employment has been most injurious to the labourers in husbandry.—7. That the improvements now under of late years in the education of the people, as well as its more general diffusion, have been seen with satisfaction by this house.—8. That this house will be ready to give its best attention to any other measures, founded on liberal and comprehensive principles, which may be conducive to the further extension of religious and moral instruction.—9. That a humble address be presented to her Majesty, to lay the foregoing resolutions before her Majesty.

The Great Ten Thousand Guinea Stakes, at Newmarket, were won on Tuesday last by Lord Strathcoke's blas, Mr. Wreford's Worthies being second. Ilias was the favorite, and started at 5 to 4 against.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, WEDNESDAY.

The house sat only for a short time, and the only business of importance was the postponement of the third reading of the Maynooth bill until the 19th, and of Lord Brougham's resolutions upon the state of the country, until the 21th inst.

GAMEKEEPER SHOT.—On Monday last, an assault was committed at Wadesley, upon Wm. Wade, a stocking-frame-work-knitter, of Whitsunsor, a locality in the parish of Basford. It appears that about eight o'clock in the morning, Wade, who is the owner of a ferret and cart, had been loading manure in his garden, when words ensued, as to the right of road. Watkinson refusing to permit the cart and horse to pass along to the garden, Webster, who is a violent tempered man, instantly struck him upon the forehead with a spade which he had in his hand, inflicting a deep wound, and nearly taking out the left eye; he was about to repeat the blow, and raised the spade to his shoulder, when Webster's son-in-law, exclaimed, "I'll murder you," when Geo. Mee, happening to be standing near, took up a stone, threw it at Webster's head, and felled him to the ground. Search was taken home, bleeding profusely, and in a dangerous state. Webster took to his heels, but policeman Jackson, who was on the spot, pursued and took the fugitive in custody, and being then out of breath, charged two men, who were at work on the road, to follow in pursuit. They did so, and overtook him at Bulwell, and compelled resistently until the handcuffs were put on him by the policeman. The prisoner declared, after being taken to the station, that he had struck upon him, and have stabbed the two men, for attempting to take him. On approaching the County jail (to which he was sent by Thomas Nixon, Esq.) the prisoner recognised the place as his old quarters, for having previously been committed by the magistrates to work on the treadmill for assault, fighting, and ill-treating his wife for the latter offence he was confined two years. On Wednesday, Webster was brought before the magistrates, and Webster was remanded for a few days.

CAUGHT.—This village has been in a state of agitation the last few weeks with parochial matters. At a vestry meeting held about Easter, for the purpose of re-appointing overseers for the ensuing year, and other matters of parish business, Mr. Richard Housley, who has served the office of overseer for the last year, was again nominated to stand forward, and after being proposed and seconded in the usual manner, every person present held up his hand for the same, except one. A few days after, Mr. Samuel Wesley, of the Chesterfield Arms Inn, nominated Mr. James Dennis. Mr. Dennis and party then formed a meeting, and Mr. Wesley was declared an active canvass throughout the village. Mr. J. Smith, assisted by Mr. Samuel Clay, delivered the voting papers on Saturday, April 26th, and collected them on Monday, the 28th. The clerk at the Basford board of guardians, Mr. Wheelhouse, attended, and the votes examined them on the 30th of April. The numbers were as follows:—For Mr. Hemsley 157, for Mr. Dennis 62, majority for Mr. Hemsley 95. Another vestry meeting was held on Tuesday, the 29th ult. at which, for the purpose of reading over the highway and poor accounts for the past year. After the accounts had been read and made out for the ensuing year, they were brought before the meeting, when it appeared, from a written statement read over by Mr. John Smith, that Mr. Dennis was the only person who had served the office of overseer. Mr. Smith then called upon Mr. Dennis for an explanation. Mr. Dennis rose and said, he was not aware that he had served the office. Newham, farmer, proposed, and Mr. John Barker seconded, "That a vote of thanks be passed upon Mr. Dennis for the manner in which he had made out or respecting Mr. John Smith, on parochial matters," which was carried unanimously, excepting one individual who held up their hands in favour of Mr. Dennis. It was then moved and se
